Development and Application of the Pandemic Risk and Recovery Economic Tool \(PRRET\) - a risk/recovery regional index

In 2020, the Regional Studies Association commissioned a grant to develop a risk/recovery regional index. The team from George Mason University, the University of South Australia and the University of Newcastle completed collation and analysis of data from several OECD countries on the potential resilience of their regions to recover from impacts of economic shutdowns due to COVID-19.

The aspiration is for the PRRET tool to enable researchers in other countries to add corresponding data to assess which regions of their own countries might need more economic support for COVID-19 recovery. Additionally, the PRRET tool has the capacity to evolve to reflect lessons learned during the economic recovery process. These lessons could include insights into pandemic-related effects of interest rates, government economic stimulus and telecommuting on regional economies.

Accommodating Connected and Autonomous Vehicles – Call for Evidence

We are pleased to launch our global Call for Evidence (CfE) as part of our Regional Studies Association Policy Expo - Accommodating Connected and Autonomous Vehicles.

An important first step in the project is to gather insights from a range of stakeholders. We are interested in hearing from all individuals, policymakers, private sector, government organisations, NGOs, or pressure groups who may have evidence relating to the questions this Policy Expo is concerned with. We invite both short form submissions (submitted via this online form) where stakeholders can respond directly to specific questions if they wish, or longer responses to the Call submitted directly to the team.

The full Call for Evidence can be accessed here: <https://bit.ly/3amL0Xd>. This outlines the questions we are hoping to address, detailed information on how you can submit your evidence, and further information on the Policy Expo.

Please circulate this to anyone you feel would be interested in engaging with this research.

The Call will close on 30th April 2021.

Reaching wider audiences with your research

In a recent RSA Professional Development Webinar, eZine Regions Editor Eduardo Oliveira (Department of Geography, University of Kiel, Germany) and the out-going editor of the RSA Blog Joshua Barrett (Government of Newfoundland and Labrador, and University of Guelph, Canada) highlighted benefits and top tips when using non-standard academic platforms to reach wider audiences. This webinar is now available to watch here.

Download our App today

Congratulations to Laura James, Aalborg University, Denmark our first winner of an e-reader in our RSA Hub app prize draw. Laura was chosen at random from the first 100 downloads of RSA Hub.

RSA Hub is packed with really useful features to enhance your membership or attendance at RSA events both online and face to face. Our e-reader Prize draw continues and we will be soon picking at random one of the first 200 and then 300 users to award an e-reader to.

RSA Regional Studies Association
Research Today, Policy Tomorrow

Grants Update – the 2021 deadlines announced

These grants aim to reward excellence and support outstanding individual researchers on a topic related to regional studies and regional science. These awards have a maximum time span of 18 months and reporting conditions apply.

For a summary, please see our Funding and Awards Flyer and if you have any questions or need further clarification, please just get in touch with Klara Sobekova.

The application deadlines for the Research Network Grant Scheme and Travel Grant have been postponed until 2022.

Small Grant Scheme on Pandemics, Cities, Regions & Industry

This scheme aims to support a discrete piece of regional studies and/or regional science research on the impact of the Coronavirus (COVID-19) on regions cities and industry. This award is open to single applicants or a team of researchers.

Examples of research projects could cover economic, environmental, social, political, cultural, behavioural and technological change, and address conceptual, methodological, empirical or policy impacts. Topics could address specific countries, regions or cities, providing that wider implications for global audiences are addressed.

The award has a maximum research time span of up to 9 months and reporting conditions apply (the reporting conditions have to be fulfilled within 11 months from the date of the award letter).

Forthcoming deadline: 30th June 2021

For more details and to apply, please click here.

Student and Early Career Awards 2021

Deadline: 30 April 2021

RSA Regional Studies
Association
Awards

Student and Early Career Awards 2021 – Call Now Open

Nominations (both self-nominations and third-party nominations) of current members are being sought for the following awards in regional studies and related fields:

- Nathaniel Lichfield Award – this award is for recent Masters graduates who have graduated within the previous year;
- Paul Benneworth PhD Student Award – this award is for registered PhD students who have not yet received their PhD certificate;
- RSA Routledge Early Career Award – this award is for early career researchers (defined as being within five years of the date on their PhD certificate or equivalent).

More details and the nomination forms are available

here: <https://www.regionalstudies.org/funding/awards-2021/>

RSA Policy Expo Grant Scheme - now open for applications!

In 2021, applications are invited on the following themes (read the full call by clicking on the title):

- Pandemics: Regional Resilience and Regional Policy Responses
- Social Innovation, Foundational Sectors and the Regional Economy
- The Future of Work, the Gig Economy, and Inclusive Growth

The two key deliverables from the Expo are:

- An article for Regional Studies, Regional Science
- A policy-facing book in the new RSA Impact and Policy Series. This would be a minimum 25,000 and maximum 30,000 word policy-facing document. It can be in the form of a report, or edited papers with an introduction and conclusion. It should include an executive summary highlighting the policy implications from the work, and it needs to be accessible to policymakers and practitioners. The RSA will provide advice on book templates to maximise policy impact. This book would normally be expected to be launched by the Association at an appropriate time and venue and will be given in print form to all RSA members and in electronic form to all subscribers to the RSA journals pack. This gives each book a very substantial potential readership footprint. Additional copies will be purchased by the Association for distribution to the policy community directly.

Before submission of your application, make sure that:

- Your proposal is a policy challenge, timely and relevant.
- Your research objectives are clearly presented, ambitious, and pertinent to tackle the policy challenge.
- Your proposal introduces innovative approaches to the policy challenge.
- Your work plan is coherent, realistic and appropriate to ensure the achievement of the research objectives.
- Your proposal clearly identifies relevant, and realistic, short- and long-term policy impacts.
- Your proposal outlines a strategy for engaging with relevant stakeholders during the life of the Award (e.g. RSA members, policymakers/practitioners).
- Your plan outlines policy dissemination and/or exploitation of the research results.
- Your proposal provides the justification for the requested resources (i.e. budget plan, appropriate costs).

A relevant webinar recording, Grants and Funding: An Introduction to the Policy Expo Grant by the RSA, given by Neil Lee and Phil Tomlinson is available freely here: <https://www.regionalstudies.org/funding/policy-expo-grant-scheme/>

During these unprecedented times and as a continued commitment to supporting our community, membership fees will remain unchanged for 2021. We are always delighted to welcome new and renewing members into our community. If you would be interested in exploring how your RSA membership gets you further or you are interested in becoming a member, please get in touch with Alex at membership@regionalstudies.org to arrange a chat.

This seminar series will invite leading scholars from across these fields to present cutting edge theoretical and empirical work. Through stimulating discussion and debate about ways forward for understanding economic geographies of sustainability transitions, policy and academic communities can be brought together. The webinar series is run by the RSA's Yorkshire and Humberside Branch and supported by the RSA. It is free and open to all and runs monthly until March 2021. Organised by Will Eadson (Sheffield Hallam University) and Laura Norris (Cardiff University).

The final webinar is scheduled for 25th March 2021.

Please keep an eye on the event page for details.

RSA Europe Events

We are looking forward to the European Week of Regions and Cities (#EURegionsWeek) 2021. Please see below for details on the current call for University sessions.

Call for University Session Proposals

We are pleased to let you know that RSA Europe is again partnering in the #EURegionsWeek, 11 to 14 October 2021. The European Week of Regions and Cities (#EURegionsWeek) is the biggest annual Brussels-based event dedicated to regional policy. This event serves as a platform for discussing and showcasing the development of EU cohesion policy and making decision-makers more aware of the importance of regions and cities in EU policymaking. More info: https://europa.eu/regions-and-cities/home_en

The University Sessions are organised by the European Commission, Directorate-General for Regional and Urban Policy (DG REGIO) and the European Committee of the Regions \(CoR\), advised by the Regional Studies Association European Foundation \(RSA Europe\) and with the cooperation of the European Regional Science Association \(ERSA\) and the Association of European Schools of Planning \(AESOP\).

The academic societies (led by RSA Europe) will host around 10 sessions in-person or virtual (format to be confirmed), showcasing the best of new research to the largely policy-based audience at the week. We are now inviting proposals for these sessions.

We invite the submission of proposals that may relate to the following overarching themes which constitute the focus of the 19th Edition:

- Green Transition: for a sustainable and green recovery
- Cohesion: from emergency to resilience
- Digital Transition: for people
- Citizens' engagement: for an inclusive, participative and fair recovery

Proposals need to be submitted online at <https://rsaeurope.org/event/euregionsweek-2021/>

Submission Deadline: 5pm CET, 11th March 2021

In 2020, the #EURegionsWeek was held online. The recordings of the University Sessions are now available on the REPLAY section of the event website: <https://rsaeurope.org/news/the-rsa-europe-at-the-2020-euregionsweek/>.

Did you know...? RSA members can get 30-35 % off Routledge books, subject-related Edward Elgar books, subject-related Wiley books and all books from Policy Press at the University of Bristol.

You can see the full range of benefits and discounts on our Membership pages. If you are already an RSA Member, please login to the RSA Lounge and head to Community, Member Discounts.

New Publication: The Randstad: A Polycentric Metropolis, Edited By Wil Zonneveld, Vincent Nadin.

Published 30 Dec 2020

The Randstad metropolitan region encompassing Amsterdam, The Hague, Rotterdam and Utrecht in the western Netherlands is regarded worldwide as a model of a 'successful' polycentric metropolis. It is widely cited as an example of how a region of interconnected small cities can effectively compete globally by providing complementary functions which together match the power of large monocentric cities. The methods of strategic spatial planning, regional design and strategic projects that are said to underpin this polycentric metropolis are used as models for practitioners and students around the world. This book provides a critical analysis of the Randstad and lessons for strategic planning in other metropolitan regions.

The Regions and Cities book series welcomes Open Access projects. Please contact Kristina Abbotts – kristina.abbotts@tandf.co.uk – Routledge Commissioning Editor or visit https://www.routledge.com/info/open_access for more details.
